

The Workplace of the Future

The reasons why people work in an office have changed. Today most people prefer a hybrid arrangement. “Becoming more creative and collaborative” is now ranked among the most valuable aspects of in-office work, according to the 2022 New World of Work study conducted by MIT Sloan Management Review for Webex by Cisco. Here’s what employees say they want when they come in to work—and how it may shape office life going forward.

Embracing Hybrid Work

Source: Cisco Global Hybrid Work Study 2022

The Benefits of Remote Work

Why people say they’re reluctant to go back to the office.

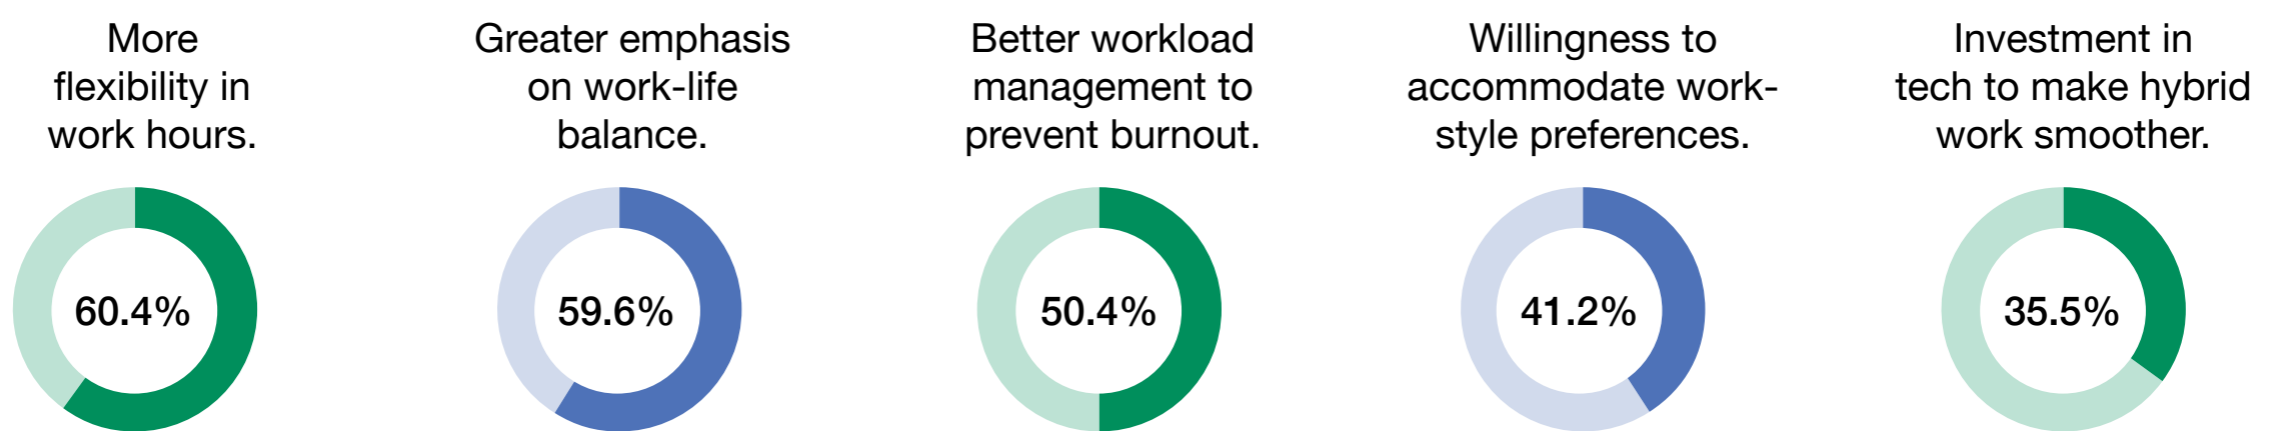

“Work can now be done from anywhere. As a result, architects and interior designers are looking at creating spaces that are flexible, personalized, and offer amazing experiences.”

Anna Tavis, professor at NYU School of Professional Studies

Bringing A New Mindset to Company Culture

Some of the changes workers want to see from their employers.

Source: Cisco Global Hybrid Work Study 2022

The Benefits of Remote Work

78%

Believe that remote and hybrid work have improved their overall well-being.

Source: Cisco Global Hybrid Work Study 2022

What Office Upgrades Would Best Help You Work?

Source: MIT SMR/Webex New World of Work Report

What does an amazing workplace experience look like? An advertising agency in Manhattan recently transformed a warehouse to include a library, a bar, a beach area (with sand), and a fish tank with exotic species floating around—everything designed in collaboration with experts who understand how environment enhances state of mind.

Nearly 73% of global workers say companies need to rethink their culture and mindset to make hybrid work truly inclusive.

Source: Cisco Global Hybrid Work Study 2022

“Leadership teams must embrace the new future of hybrid work and be the examples for their teams.”

Source: Cisco Global Hybrid Work Study 2022

The workplace will never be the same. That’s a good thing. Get ready for the future—today—with Webex by Cisco.